Daily Diary Assistant to DD/I (Admin.)

9 - 20 August 1954

1. IAC Budget Study: Per your request I made available to Mr. Kirkpatrick for delivery to the DCI your summary of the paper concerning CIA's position with respect to increased coordination of intelligence budget. Copies were also made available to 25X1A9a 25X1A9a (Acting DD/A), and I have not had any reaction from | 25X1A9a or the others. 25X1A9a 25X1A9a Monday , 2: 00 P. W 25X1A9a | saw me informally this week and stated that would appreciate an "off the record" meeting with you to discuss a draft of a letter to the DCI following up on the previous analysis. Although would not go into any details, apparently, they are 25X1A9a planning on proposing another rerun of the analysis with suggested 25X1A9a refinements. stated that he had innocently mentioned the study during one of his recent contacts in the Pentagon and was surprised to learn that it had not been made available to the other IAC

and I met with at request to discuss recommendations 25X1A9a concerning the centralization of graphic facilities. mendation, in which everyone seems to concur, is that centralization at the agency level is not feasible but that there should be centralization in each of the major components. As you know I have been spearheading a study for sometime of the possible merger of the OCI-ORR shops. Inasmuch as there is agreement by ORR that their shop should be merged under OCI in the Special Center, I requested that I proceed to work out the necessary refinements. I have prepared a rough draft will put the paper in final form during my absence. 25X1A9a

25X1A9a NIS--Section 45--Health and Sanitation: Upon learning that was initiating a project to take over the production of Section 45 from the Surgeon General I met with him to discuss certain concerns that I had from the standpoint of securing PRC approval. Considering the present cloudy climate concerning the Agency's financing responsibilities I advised him that the transfer would face strong opposition at this time unless we could make a strong case that the section was presently malassigned to the Surgeon General and that it was a proper responsibility of OSI. In turn the record should be clear that Army was not dropping the item because of budget economies and, in fact, that they would be willing to transfer to us the money reflected in their budget agreed that the record was not good on any of these points. In fact, it is his belief that the Surgeon General is the most capable organization for production of the section and would perfer that they remain in the business. It is also clear that they have requested us to take the section over because of budget and personnel ceiling difficulties. Added to this on the negative side is the fact that OSI is very lukewarm on assuming the responsibility, doesn't have any particular competence at the moment and can take it on only if they gat additional ceiling and funds. This, of course, would require Budget Bureau approval and release of contingency within the Agency. I specially impressed on that I thought the proposal was very ill timed in the light of the present questions being raised by General Cabell concerning financing of the NIS Program, etc. (A question certainly would be raised as to whether this would not set a precedent for the military for budget reasons to begin to drop other items and request CIA to pickup the check.) In any event I suggested that we have nothing to lose in first replying to General Trudeau indicating our own budget difficulties and strongly recommending that the Army continue to make provision for the item. Based on our discussion Captain Knowles readily agreed to first make an effort to get Army to maintain support and is preparing a draft letter for the DCI's signature. I assured him that I would brief you on my suggested approach and that if you disagree we would go ahead with a PRC action. We also agreed that upon my return we would meet with the Comptroller to advise him of developments. There is no real urgency in this matter inasmuch as the Army plans to proceed with production pending any action by us.

He indicated that in addition to gathering factual information as to the amount of funds etc., had also suggested that he attempt to evaluate the quality of the State services. He indicated some hesitancy, however, at acting on this and stated that before he got into this phase that he planned to have further Based on our discussion I believe that he fully discussions with understands that you cannot wrap the State support problem up into a single bundle called "subsidy" but rather that each of the items must be separately understood as to the governing principles and needs of the Agency.

5. Budget: The revision of the 1956 office estimates to reflect the approved Agency allowance has been completed and the material submitted to the Comptroller for his review and submission to the Budget Bureau.

I met with representatives of the Comptroller's office to discuss the findings of the survey which had requested of the practices and procedures in effect in our offices for exercising allotment controls. They are in agreement with my original proposal that our offices were maintaining more detailed controls than are necessary and that a simplified system can be utilized, involving chiefly developments upon the monthly reports available from the Comptroller supplemented by suggested analysis techniques. In addition, a more effective procedure for controlling unvouchered funds is required. After revision based on our discussion, the Comptroller with submitted his report to me for our approval after coordination with the offices.

- 6. Management Improvement: The office reports covering accomplishments for the past fiscal year and objectives for the current fiscal year were reviewed and submitted to the Management Staff. The reports submitted by the offices represented a great improvement over last year's and will provide an excellent program for management improvement within each of the offices during the coming year.
- 7. Records Management: Held a meeting with representatives of the Records Management Staff and ORR to discuss undertaking a record survey of the substantive divisions. Agreement was reached to begin on a pilot operation basis in the Services Division with the Records Management Staff providing the services of one individual to assist ORR personnel in the study. It was agreed that it would not be appropriate to attempt as part of the study to standardize filing systems. Rather emphasis will be placed on inventorying the records and developing a schedule for the retirement of material.

As soon as program in OCD. The initial inventory and retirement scheduling has largely been completed in the other DD/I offices and the problem now is chiefly one of maintenance and periodic review.
